PATRONAGE AGENTS INDORSED.

Four Democrat Editors Pat Voorhees and Turpie on the Back.

Messrs. Holtman, of the Brazil Democrat, Chapman, of the Madison Democrat, Rothrock, of the Monticello Democrat, and Ben D. Eaton, of the Indianapolis Sentinel, composing the executive committee of the Democratic State Editorial Association, met in Auditor Henderson's office at the Statehouse, yesterday afternoon, and perfected plans for the midsummer meeting of the association at West Baden, June 8 and 9. There are to be half a dozen papers and addresses, but the programme will not be announced until those invited to speak signify their acceptance. The committee adopted the following resolutions: "Whereas, The Democratic party, through its representatives in the Congress of the United States, is now engaged in a struggle to emancipate the people from the in-famous system of tariff taxation and favoritism of which the McKinley law, now in force, is the culmination; be it "Resolved, That we the executive committee of the Democratic Editorial Assoclation of Indiana, have watched with pleasure and approval the course of both the Senators and all the Democratic members of Congress from our State in their ef-forts to redeem the pledges of the Democratic party on the subject of tariff reform. "And we hereby pledge our loyal support in the contest now being waged in the interest of the laboring and producing mass-es of the people under the leadership of our honored Senators, D. W. The Governor says he will be prepared to act in the event of depredations by large bodies of Coxey recruits.

· Easy on the Commissioners. Twenty petitioners, representing property owners of Center and Washington townships, were before the County Commissioners yesterday asking for a franchise for the Indianapolis & Broad Ripple Rapid Transit Company. The petitioners want the line constructed over the Westfield gravel road. As an inducement to the board to bestir itself, the company agrees to dismiss the suit pending in the Circuit Court to require the commissioners to order an election in Washington township, by which it is proposed to authorize a tax in aid of the road.

AN UNUSUAL OFFERING COULD USE ONE NOW

The City's Old Pesthouse a Thing of the Past.

How It Was Destroyed Yesterday in Compliance with the Ordinance -Another to Be Built.

On the verge of a smallpox scare the city now finds itself without a pesthouse, the old one having been burned yesterday morning, at 8 o'clock, according to the requirements of the city ordinance. At that time Mayor Denny, President Hays, of the Board of Health, Superintendent of Police Powell, Chief Webster, of the fire department, with a supply wagon and a chemical, arrived at the scene of proposed destruction. A fireman cut an opening in the side of one of the houses, some oil-soaked shavings were thrust into it and ignited and the work of demolition had begun. A second building was fired and soon a third. When the fire was at its height an alarm of fire was sent in, but as this was understood the companies did not answer the call. As the buildings were dry and of a combustible material it was not long before they were leveled to the ground An occupied building, close to the pesthouse, was also burned after the occupants had moved out.

The pesthouse buildings and grounds occupied nine acres on the banks of Fall creek, in the vicinity of Indiana avenue, and were first used as such by the city and the government. During the war many wounded soldiers were quartered there and a number died there. Shortly after the war the buildings were burned and the land was leased from the owner, J. H. McKernan, after which the city bought the land. The present buildings were erected, and have been but little used except during one smallpox epidemic over ten years ago. The buildings have been abandoned for over hree years. Judge Brown, of the Circuit Court, appointed Thomas H. Spann, F. W. Hamilton and James S. Cruse to appraise the land. They viewed it yesterday. report this morning, and it be advertised for sale for five report this days and sold to the highest bidder. A new site will then be purchased for a new pest-house. The County Commissioners have condescended to appropriate $2,000 to aid the city in this important matter.

TO PLAT BRUCE PLACE.

Park Avenue Will Be Opened Under Certain Conditions.

The Board of Public Works, yesterday afternoon, visited Bruce Place, in company with attorney Rooker, representing the estate of James Bruce and the other interested property owners. Their object is to determine what is necessary for the city to do in order to justify the owners in platting Bruce Place. Attorney Rooker says if the city will extend the water mains on Broadway and Park avenue from Fifteenth o Seventeenth street and place electric arc ights at College avenue and Sixteenth street and one other within the unplatted territory that the entire six blocks will be platted. This is a very important matter to that part of the city. The proposed plat would necessarily open up Park avenue and settle all dispute as to the rights of the city in the matter of Sixteenth street and Broadway where they pass through Bruce Place. It would also widen Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets and Central avenue. making them conform to the width of those streets elsewhere.

REMONSTRANCE NOT SUFFICIENT.

City Engineeer Reports on the New Jersey-Street Improvement. The city engineer yesterday made a report to the Board of Works on the New Jersey-street improvement remonstrance. He finds that there are twenty-five resident property owners on that portion south of Massachusetts avenue, and as the petition contains only sixteen of the names the remonstrance is not sufficient. On the portion north of Massachusetts avenue there are forty-one resident property owners, and only twenty-six signed the remonstrance. It would require twenty-seven and one-third signatures to make the remonstrance good. On the remonstrance to this portion are three doubtful names, which nay change the result. H. J. Milligan and the Bruner brothers, for the remonstrators, asserted that the report of the engineer was not correct; that two brothers were counted as one property owner because they lived in the same house. Mr. Milligan contended that their interests in the property were divided, and they should be counted as two persons. Also, he argued that all the petitions and remove strances should be counted as one, and that an examination would show that there is the two-thirds remonstrance. The claim also made that a man who lived in the south end of the street, and owns property at the north end, would have the right to remonstrate against each section of the improvement. The remonstrators say they will take the question into court. The board did not decide whether or not it would or-der the advertisements for bids to do the

PETITION FOR CEDAR BLOCKS. Mabama-Street People Again Before

the Board of Works. The Alabama-street property owners filed a petition with the Board of Works, yesterday, asking that Alabama street be improved with red cedar blocks. The petition includes the following specifications: "The excavation to be made so as to allow not less than sixteen inches of the pavement including the foundation. "The foundation to be of broken stone, thoroughly rolled with a heavy steam roller, to the depth of eight inches, and on this a coating of clean screened sand rolled to a uniform surface and not less than two inches in thickness. The pavement to be of red cedar blocks, round or square, free from sap, six inches in length, closely set, well tamped or rolled, and brought to a uniform grade. The inter-stices to be filled about half full of clean screened sand and gravel, well tamped and grouted, and filled to grade with tar or best quality of Portland cement, and then good condition and eighteen inches deep." No action was taken on the petition. Additional Sprinkling Contracts. The board yesterday entered into contracts with Fuehring Brothers for the sprinkling of the following streets for the

Nolting: Irwin street, from College avenue to Corneil avenue; Garfield place, from Peru street to Bellefontaine street; Garfield

Alabama and Tenth streets at once. The work has been delayed on account of the O. M. Dillman, 256 Talbott avenue, T. R. Millison, on Broadway, and John J. Smith, 131 to 137 East North street, were yesterday granted permission by the Works Board to lay cement sidewalks in front of their prop-

The Board of Works yesterday notified the Indianapolis Gas Company to repair the alley between Woodlawn avenue and Pleasant street, which is in bad condition owing to their recently laid gas mains.

Elm-Street Assessment Errors. The claim of Henry Staler for $9.93 overcharge on the Elm-street sewer assessment has brought out the fact that there were some other errors in that assessment. Mr. Stolte was charged for a thirty-eight-foot lot, when he has a twenty-eight-foot lot. One man was left off the list entirely who should have been charged $5, and another lot was figured at four feet less than actual width, making a discrepancy of $3.36. These amounts have since been placed on the roll and collected and paid over to the contractors. The contractors have agreed to pay this amount, which is in excess of their contract price, to Mr. Stolte, which will leave $1.59 to be paid by the city.

The "Egyptians" Petition. "Egypt" was before the Board of Works in a new shape yesterday morning. Heretofore the efforts of the property owners in the land-locked district has been to get those owning the closed property to consent to platting it in such a way as to give an outlet to "Egypt." Now they have filed a formal petition with the board asking it to open and improve Gresham street from its present eastern terminus to Shelby street. No action was taken. If this petition is granted they will then try to get Lincoln lane opened and improved to Shelby

New York-Street Sewer Contract. The board opened proposals for the construction of a local sewer in New York street, from Noble street to Liberty street, W. C. Allen & Co., $1.52; A. Bruner, $1.45; Acme Paving and Contracting Company, $1.43; Gansberg & Roney, $1.28.

The board awarded the contract to Gansberg & Roney at $1.28 per foot. Want Sewers First. Property owners on Ash street between Seventh street and Lincoln avenue have petitioned the board to delay the improvement of that street until proper provision is made for sewers and water. The board has asked the city engineer for a statement of the facts in the case. An Alley for a Chicken Yard. It seems from complaints that have reached the Board of Works that E. Vineregh has fenced in the alley south of Prospect street and west of Quince street, and is now using it for a chicken yard. He was ordered yesterday to remove the obstruc-

Street Commissioner's Pay Roll. The street commissioner was yesterday alowed $418.77 for the week's pay roll of the street-repair gang, and the sewer gang was allowed $107.76. The bridge gang was allowed $152.20, all for the week ending yes-

New York-Street Remonstrance. A remonstrance was filed with the Works Board yesterday morning against paving with asphalt New York street from Indiana avenue to Blake street. The petition contained fifty-six names.

Petition for Electric Light. The people in the neighborhood of East Vermont street and the railroad tracks asked the Board of Works for an electric light yesterday. No action was taken.

A BRUTAL SON'S DEED.

Wm. Beachman Breaks His Aged Mother's Arm and Threatens to Shoot Her.

Yesterday afternoon patrolmen Lannis and Mitchell arrested William Beachman on a charge of assault and battery on his mother. Mrs. Beachman resides at No. 280 North Spring street. Her son William, who is a hard drinker, and who stays away from his home the greater part of the time, went there yesterday afternoon, in an intoxicated condition, and demanded $50, he having learned that his mother had received $100 on a debt owed her by a friend. Mrs. Beachman, knowing that the money would be spent for liquor, refused to give it to him. Beachman grew angry and struck her a vicious blow on the arm, breaking it. Mrs. Beachman sank to the ground in great pain, and shouted for help, while her brutal son drew a revolver and threatened to shoot her unless she disclosed the niding place of the money. A sister of Mrs. Beachman heard the cries for help and rushed into the room. Beachman seized her and threw her bodily through the door into the street. The sister ran shricking down the street, calling for police aid. A second sister made her appearance and was treated in a like manner. At this moment patrolman Lannis, who resides in the vicinity, rushed into the house and grappled with Beachman. The two had a rough-and-tumole fight for some time, but the officer's superior strength soon told in the struggle, and Beachman was laid out. The patrol wagon was summoned, and, with the aid of patrolman Mitchell, patrolman Lannis suceeded in placing his struggling prisoner in the wagon. He was slated at the police station on the above charge, and went into the "cage" with an air of bravado. Mrs. Beachman who is advanced in age, is suffering greatly while her sisters are bruised and badly shaken up. Beachman has, on several ocasions, in an intoxicated condition, gone to his mother's home and threatened to take the lives of those present when anything about the house met with his disap-

The body of J. E. Mumaugh, who died at the county poor farm several days ago, still remains at the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons. It was thought that by last night some communication would have been received from Mumaugh's wife, in Omaha, as to the disposition of the remains. Yesterday afternoon a letter was received from George W. Raymond, a brother-in-law of the dead man, residing in Modoc, Randolph county. He had read the account of Mumaugh's death in the press, and also of the desire of the authorities to know what disposition to make of the remains. Raymond stated that Morgan J. Mumaugh, the dead man's father, resided in Scott, O. He also stated that the dead man had a sister named Grace Hine residing at No. 472 Marshfield avenue, Chicago. Mr. Raymond sent the photo-graphs of Mumaugh's wife and two baby boys, who are all in good circumstances in Omaha. Mumaugh was divorced from his wife several years ago, and had since led a roving life. The police will communicate with the above named relatives as to the disposition of the body. To Appraise Pesthouse Land. In the Circuit Court, yesterday, J. S. Cruse, Frank W. Hamilton and Thomas W. ## CASE OF SMALLPOX

"Major" Higgins, a Negro, Found Suffering at Police Station.

Station House and a Number of Policemen Quarantined-Patient in a Tent on Pesthouse Site.

"Major" Higgins, a colored tramp, and a recent importation from Vincennes, has started a smallpox scare in this city unequaled for many years. He arrived here five days ago, as he states, and on several occasions stopped over night at the "bum" room at the police station. Thursday night, about 7 o'clock, Higgins asked permission of Turnkey Long to sleep in this room. The latter noticed that Higgins walked with a lumbering step, and as if in great pain. He questioned Higgins, but the latter stated that he was suffering from rheumatism. He also said he had recently walked great distances while on the road and that his feet and limbs were swollen in consequence. Turnkey Long reported the matter to Police Surgeon Kahlo during the night, and the Doctor examined Higgins yesterday morning. He found an eruption of the skin, and also that the pains in the limbs had greatly increased in addition to the man having a high fever. Dr. Kahlo reported the matter to Dr. Ferguson, of the City Hospital, and the latter investigated Higgins's condition. He at once saw that Higgins had symptoms of smallpox. He informed Dr. Wagner, who has had much experience in that line, and the latter, too, after making an examination, was of the opinion that Higgins was undoubtedly suffering from an attack of smallpox. Dr. Hodges was called in later, but it was his opinion that Higgins was suffering fram a severe attack of the "seven-year itch." He admitted, however, that the disease might be smallpox. The extreme dark color of Higgins rendered it difficult to make a thorough investigation of the man's condition. Higgins claimed, yesterday morning, that he had not been in places where there was any smallpox and that none of his traveling companions complained of having the about 2 o'clock, and reported to the Board of Health. Dr. Hays, after a consultation, during which it was deemed wise to order that the most careful precautions be taken to prevent a spread of the disease should it be smallpox, ordered the police station quarantined for twenty-four hours, beginning at 4 o'clock. The following persons connected with the police department are now in the station, and will remain there until the quarantine is raised: Police Matron Mrs. Buchanan, Joe Richardson, Doss Shafer, Joseph Stevens, Albert Mathe, Wil-iiam Wheeler, Martin McGuff, John Long, Otis Balcom, Joseph Steinruck and Henry Slate. Late in the afternoon Mayor Denny had a consultation with the Board of Pub-lic Safety and Board of Health, together with Superintendent Powell and Police Surgeon Kahlo, in regard to the necessary arrangements for handling the police work and the caring for those quarantined at the police station. All detail matter will be reported to the police station, and from there given out to the officers by tele-The prisoners not already confined at the police station will be conveyed by the patrol wagon to the county jail, where there is ample room to confine them. The morning and evening roll calls will be held n the Council chamber. The headquarters Superintendent Powell and Eugene Harris, his secretary, will be in the offices of the Board of Public Safety. nished with substantial meals. The prisoners there will escape trial until the quar-About 5:30 yesterday afternoon Higgins was removed to a tent on the land in the rear of the City Hospital, near the banks of Fall creek, by the city ambulance. It was the opinion of the majority of the physicians who had made any diagnosis of the disease that smallpox was rapidly developing. In case this is true many persons, including reporters, members of the police force and numbers of other visitors to the police station whose names were ali taken, will be put under quarantine. The situation at the police station is somewhat humorous, notwithstanding the possible grave results. The prisoners in the "cage" who were unfortunate enough to be confined when the quarantine was ordered pace their cells full of the knowledge of their possible danger. Every once in a while they call to the officers present and ask what the trouble is. On receiving the reply that nothing unusual, excepting that the station is under quarantine over a case of smallpox, they make their way back to their bunks and swear at their hard luck. The officers in charge are get-ting a taste of temporary enforced retire-ment from the world.

CAPTAIN QUIGLEY'S TRAMP.

Found One in His Stable Suffering from Smallpox. Several mornings ago as Captain Quigley, who resides on Blackford street, was sitting in his house just after his night's work a neighbor called and stated that a tramp who had been accustomed to sleep in his stable for the last week and who was uning in his stable at that time. Captain Quigley investigated and found the tramp in the condition as reported. The tramp stated that he had arrived in this city several days previous from Chicago, and that he was afflicted with the disease when he left there. He was in the worst stages of the disease and was almost helpless. Captain Quigley asked where the tramp intended to go, and, on being told that Cincinnati was the destination, he told the tramp that if he was caught within the city's limits within an hour he would be lynched by the citizens. Captain Quigley was so impressed with the man's condition that he made the above statement without second's thought. Several hours after that he searched diligently for the tramp, but he could not be located, and it is sup-posed that he has fled the city. Praise for the Health Board. Dr. C. N. Metcalf, secretary of the State Board of Health, is well pleased with the prompt action of the local health authorities in quarantining the police station and removing the patient. He visited the station last night, in company with Dr. Probst and Dr. Scott, secretaries of the Ohio and Illinois health boards, respectively, and the two last named health officers expressed themselves in the warmest manner in praise of the rigid quarantine at that building. Vaccine points have been ordered from Chicago, and will be here this morning, when everyone under quarantine who has not recently been vaccinated will be subjected to this precaution. Dr. Metcalf will visit the smallpox patient to-day, though he is thoroughly satisfied that the case is a fully developed one. He wishes, if possible, to ascertain where Higgins contracted the disease. There is and has been, according to the State Board's knowledge, no smallpox at or near Vincennes, from which point Higgins claims to have come Reporters Must Be Vaccinated. Secretary Metcalf, of the State Board of Health, stated last night that the entire police force, together with the police reporters and the visitors to the police sta-tion while Higgins was at the police sta-tion, must be vaccinated. The vaccination will occur as soon as fresh vaccine can be secured from Chicago.

THE SLOW COMMISSIONERS.

They Showed Little Inclination to Help Build the Pesthouse. Several weeks ago, when reports of the great spread of smallpox in the city of Chicago reached this city the city health authorities at once began to devise plans to prevent the spread of the disease in this city in case it should break out here. The pesthouse which was standing near the City Hospital was worthless and entirely unfit for the uses for which it had been erected. It had no conveniences, and was old and dilapidated. The City Board of Health began to take steps looking towards the erection of a new pesthouse on the old site. As it was probable that a large number of patients from outside the city would be treated at the pesthouse in the building. The County Commissioners showed great reluctance to listen to any proposition and were inclined to ignore the health authorities. The city had no funds that could be used to erect the building, and the project dragged slowly. Finally, the commissioners agreed to appropriate $1,000, with some conditions. Then it was proposed to build the pesthouse on the poor farm property, where there is ample room for it on the 180 acres of ground contained in the plot. The commissioners again interfered with the project and refused to permit the erection of the building there. Then the Health Board asked another conference with the commissioners. They were told that they would have to wait till the time for the commissioners' regular meeting, and another delay of about one week was caused by this. Then the commissioners agreed to appropriate $2,500, but made the agreement with a proviso that the building be not erected on the ground owned by the city near the City Hospital. To take advantage of this proposition the city was compelled to pass an ordinance repealing one authorizing the sale of this property and enact a new ordinance authorizing the sale. This was because of a question as to the validity of the old ordinance. When this ordinance came up in the Counon account of the absence of several of the Democratic members it was impossible to pass it under a suspension of the rules and it had to lay over for another week, when it was passed at a special meeting of the Council held on last Monday night.

MARION COUNTY W. C. T. U.

Semi-Annual Meeting Held and a Number of Papers Read."

The semi-annual meeting of the Marion County W. C. T. U. was held yesterday, at the People's Church, at the corner of Blackford and Michigan streets. There was a large attendance, and Mrs. Frances Potter, president of the county, was in the chair. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Connaughey. Reports were made by Mrs. Sims, the corresponding secretary, and Mrs. A. T. Whitson, the treasurer. Reports from the presidents of the local societies were given as follows: For Central Union, by Mrs. J. R. Wood: the Indianapolis Union, by Miss Lola Carver; Meridian, Mrs. Lizzie C. Hahn; West Side, Mrs. J. A. McKeehan; Brightwood, Mrs. R. H. Robertson; Valley Mills, Mrs. Whitson; Wallace, Mrs. Georgia Wright; South Side, Mrs. Bryan; Mapleton, Mrs. Mary Sapp. The leading talk of the morning session was given by Miss Addie B. Worthington, educational agent of the A. M. E. Church, Louisville, Ky., on the subject, "The Best Plan of Work to Create an Interest Among Colored People.' She advocated interesting the pastors and urging them to preach on temperance and the W. C. T. U. one week, and the next Police Surgeon Kahlo made another exfollow up the work by calling a mass meeting, at which the religious and missionary phases of the W. C. T. U. might be preamination of the man yesterday afternoon sented, and, in addition, to secure eight faithful women in each church to carry on the work and organize unions. Especial emphasis was made to urge the young colored people to organize into W. C. T. U's. She believes that social work is a distinctive feature of the work, and the young women can work in conjunction with the Y. M. C. A's. Arrangements will be made for meetings as suggested by Miss Worth-

The afternoon session was given to hear-ing a talk by Mrs. Frances A. Talbott on the "Care of Dependent Women" and fiveminute reports from women who have charge of special departments of the W. C. T. U. work. Mrs. A. D. Yocky spoke on 'Sabbath Observance and Temperance Literature," urging, among other things, that funerals should not be held on Sunday. Mrs. Clara Conklin spoke on "Evangelism and Jail and Prison," and gave a review of what had been accomplished in the workhouse and in the mission which is conducted at No. 57 East South street. Mission meetings have been held in the rooms there every evening since October, and 210 meetings have been the result, with 214 conversions, chiefly among the men. As most of the men are elderly, and have been in the habit of drinking, this work has been one of the most important ones carried on. Mrs. J. A. McKeehan *told of her efforts among the colored people, and notwithstanding the committee had called on all the pastors of the colored churches and asked them to give them leave to speak in their churches on the subject of temperance, no pastor had responded favorably to their request. Mrs. Rebecca Hessong reported for the Loyal Temperance Legion, Mrs. J. R. Wood for the Soldiers' and Sailors' Organization, Mrs. Luella McWhirter for "Press Reporter," Miss Bonham for "Purity in Literature and Art." Miss Della Brown gave a spirited account of her work in the subject of "Narcotics and Railroad Work." Mrs. E. C. Mats reported for the "Demorest Contest," Mrs. Mary Moody for "Heredity." Miss Leonore Ayres spoke for "Parliamentary Usage," Mrs. Georgia Wright for "Franchise," Mrs. L. C. Miller for "Flower Mission," which is a part of the W. C. T. U. work, and is not connected with the work of the society of that name: Mrs. R. work of the society of that name; Mrs. R. T. Brown advocated nonalcoholic communion wine, and Mrs. Harriet Jordan spoke for the "Police Matron." Mrs. Potter closed the speaking for the afternoon with remarks on the general work of the organization. The general verdict was that the reports from the presidents of the local societies were not complete, owing to the fact that the different officers and heads neglected to make reports to the presidents. At the evening session the devotional exercises were led by Rev. James M. Lewis, pastor of the People's Church. John Phillips, who was one of the speakers at the February commencement of the High School, delivered his oration on "The Problem of To-day," which is the liquor question, and an address was made by Prof. Monroe Vayinger, A. M., pastor of Maple-ton M. E. Church.
